

Diagnostics Requirements for Ultra-Low Emittance Rings

Volker Schlott, PSI

The new generation of diffraction-limited light sources, based on ultra-low emittance storage rings pose a number of more stringent requirements on beam diagnostics systems. This talk provides an overview of developments, which aim for highest beam stability and the measurement of ultra-low emittance beams.